Purus launches stainless steel sanitary ware range

Purus, the wet room drainage solutions provider, is launching a new range of attractive and highly durable stainless steel sanitary ware products for use in commercial environments.

The Purus stainless steel sanitary ware and accessories range has been developed for use in public lavatories, hospitals and prison cells where there is a high demand for robust, easy to maintain, functional and hygienic products.

The product range consists of a substantial set of products including WC pans, urinals, washbasins, troughs with practical and vandal-safe fittings, washbasins and tables, cabinets and shelves, outlet systems and separators.

Purus stainless steel toilets and urinals are practical for surroundings where there are tough requirements for durability and hygiene such as in public toilets, sports centres, restaurants and public institutions. Stainless steel toilets are also an alternative in specifically designed environments such as high and low security detention centres as they reduce the risk of damage.

Peter Bradbourne, managing director, Purus UK, says:

“Stainless steel sanitary ware products are ideally suited for commercial environments which have high traffic volumes. They offer an attractive solution while offering maximum durability and hygiene.”

The new range of products complements Purus' existing range of wet room drains which are available nationwide in a variety of horizontal and square formats. Purus offers a standard and bespoke service for the sanitary ware range.
